

Authoring

General Guidelines

For larger documents, it is recommended that they are authored locally using a word processor then uploaded onto the wiki.

Open Office has the ability to export to the wiki format.

It is also possible to export from Word using a macro available from

<http://www.infpro.com/Word2MediaWiki.aspx>

For either of these approaches the required images must be uploaded and linked to manually via this page Special:Upload

There are a set of example documents that show the headings etc that should be used.
